POLUGAR №1 Rye and Wheat Rodionov with Sons POLAND 660

POLUGAR №2 Garlic & Pepper — Rodionov with Sons POLAND 660

POLUGAR №3 Rye bread with caraway seeds — Rodionov with Sons POLAND 660

POLUGAR Buckwheat — Rodionov with Sons POLAND 800

"The Bread Wine of the Russian Empire" is an alternative name of this drink, as well as "the progenitor of the Russian vodka". It dates back to 1895. The brew, made of selected wheat and rye, passes through a triple distillation in a special, recreated by old drawings copper pot, and then it is purified with the use of birch coal. Polugar is stronger than vodka and it treasures bready aroma and mild flavor of its raw materials — rye and wheat.
